

Cervical Cancer Awareness Month January 2012

Cervical cancer can be prevented

- Get the HPV vaccine. It protects against the types of HPV that often cause cervical cancer. It is given in a series of three shots.
- It is recommended for females 9 to 26 years old.
- Use condoms during sex.
- Limit your number of sexual partners.
- Don 't smoke.

To find out more information about HPV vaccine, call the Guam Immunization Program at 735-7143 or 735-7148

Don't take your health for granted . Talk to your doctor today!

100%
through Detection

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH & SOCIAL SERVICES
Guam Breast & Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program
Tel: 735-0671*42 * Fax: 734-7626

federally funded the Guam
Program, Grant

